

As part of your Further Study you will have timetabled, supervised sessions. You need to bring along the work you will do and you will normally be expected to work in silence.

There are two types of session:

Eleventh Lessons

One period per fortnight per subject. You will be guided by your subject teachers.

Silent Study

Three / four periods per fortnight. You manage your workload and decide what to do.

Why?

You need to complete around 6 hours independent work per subject per week in order to fulfil your potential. These sessions help you to do around one third of that total.

Always make sure you know what you want to do before you walk into a Further Study session. If needs be, talk to a subject teacher beforehand.

Take Control of YOUR time

- ✓ Plan the work you will do
- ✓ Be on time
- ✓ Be in the right room
- ✓ Work independently and in silence
- ✓ Work positively for the whole session
- ✓ Save food and drink for later.
